Dear JROTC Championship Coaches and Competitors:

The 1st National JROTC Air Rifle Championship that we conducted at Fort Benning, Georgia in 2003 was a great event. It fulfilled our highest expectations for a competition to showcase the best in JROTC marksmanship and inspire participation and competitive excellence among JROTC cadets throughout the country.

Now, in March 2004, we are completing the 2nd National JROTC Air Rifle Championship, thanks to the cooperative efforts of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps JROTC Commands and the outstanding hospitality of Fort Benning and its world-famous U. S. Army Marksmanship Unit ranges.

The National JROTC Championship is not just a special competition for the best shooters, it is the pinnacle of a massive program that offers every cadet in every Army, Marine Corps and Navy JROTC unit in the country a chance to participate and enjoy the benefits of marksmanship practice and competition. This championship's potential benefit to all JROTC cadets is its ultimate value.

This year, the quest for National JROTC Championship honors began when over 6,000 JROTC cadets all over the country competed in Army, Marine Corps and Navy JROTC postal competitions in December and January. This competition series has become the country's largest youth shooting sports competition. The best in those competitions qualified for the Marine Corps Phase II Postal Qualifier or the Navy JROTC Championship or the Army JROTC Eastern or Western Region Championships. Now the 21 best JROTC unit teams and 120 individual cadets have completed their 2004 "Nationals" and are being recognized through this final results bulletin for their accomplishments.

We congratulate all of the JROTC cadets and unit team coaches who were part of this great competition.

Yours for good shooting,

Gary Anderson, Director
Civilian Marksmanship Program
Competition Director
