Davis and Atchley Cruise to National JROTC Air Rifle Victories As Shelby County and Ozark Win Team Championships

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

Connor Davis, the 2011 precision air rifle champion, displays three certificates representing three new Marine Corps JROTC records set en route to his victory.

ANNISTON, ALABAMA — Connor Davis, 18, of Shelby County High School, Kentucky, set two new national Marine Corps Junior ROTC precision air rifle records only to break his own record the next day en route to winning the individual national championship here on 25-26 March. He amassed an aggregate score of 1291.05 with 87 center shots.

Davis, a junior at Shelby County, fired a qualifying score of 593-41 out of a possible 600 on the first day of competition — giving him a five point lead going into the 10-shot final. He then shot a 103.6 in the final to set the new 3x20-plus final record of 696.6. Davis owns the current USMC JROTC record of 103.8 which he set in December 2010 at the Gary Anderson Invitational.

On Day II Davis fired a record-setting qualifying score of 595-46, topping April Dunn's 2007 record of 594. He added a 102.5 in the final, surpassing his previous day's record with a 697.5 3x20-plus final.

"This year was good, an undefeated season, so that was a big plus," Davis said. "It's good to finally be here. Since day one when I started as a freshman, this is what we worked for and it's definitely good to finally get here."

Davis began his shooting career at age nine when his mom got him involved with 4-H with a sporter rifle just for fun, he said. "Then I found out that we had a high school in town with an ROTC program with a rifle team, so immediately I knew that's what I wanted to do." Davis went directly into precision air rifle competition as a freshman.

Davis next travels to Colorado Springs to compete in smallbore and air rifle in the Junior Olympics and again at Camp Perry. Davis said he will probably shoot a couple of USA Shooting matches to conclude his season and then looks forward to competing once again in JROTC as a senior and hopes to be back in Anniston for next year's championship.

After high school Davis said he's hopefully attending college and likes the notion of competing on the University of Kentucky rifle team. "It's only an hour from home and I go up to the range all the time to watch their home matches, so I think that would be great," he added.

Kirsten Moyer, 18, of Manzano High School Navy JROTC, New Mexico, placed second in the precision championship with an aggregate score of 1273.1-85. Moyer tied the Navy record of 196-14 in the standing phase of the competition on the second day. Moyer battled from the sixth position after the Day I qualifier to fourth after the final. She climbed into second place on Day II but couldn't close the gap on the record-setting Davis.

Kevin Cruz, 18, of Del Valle High School Army JROTC, Texas, took home the bronze medal with an aggregate score of 1271.4-82. Cruz outscored Moyer in the Day II final, 101 to 98.2, but it wasn't enough to overcome Moyer's five point advantage entering the final.

In sporter air rifle competition, Mikaelah Atchley, 18, of Daleville High School Army

JROTC, Alabama, won the gold medal with an aggregate score of 1229.3-55 and she tied the national Army JROTC sporter qualifying record score of 570-31 on Day I. Like Davis in precision air rifle, Atchley's lead was not relinquished throughout the two-day event. She qualified for the final with a 566-24 on Day II.

Second place finisher Tessa Howald, 17, of Ozark High School Army JROTC, Missouri, made a run at Atchley's lead on Day I, coming up six points shy after the final.

Alexi Henry, 15, of Wagener-Salley High School Army JROTC, South Carolina, also pursued Atchley but still trailed by six points on Day II. In the end Howald finished second with a 1213-43 and Henry took third with 1210.55-40.

"I worked very hard to get here, practicing everyday" Atchley said following the awards banquet Saturday night. "I feel pretty accomplished actually, to be on the podium.

"Last year it was Thomas Wheelless (2010 sporter champ) and I told him actually when he was up there, 'I wanted to be just like you last year,' and I made it and I was pretty excited about that."

Atchley's shooting career is nearly complete as she finishes out a week of work with the US Army Marksmanship Unit and finishes air rifle competition with the Alabama state championship.

"Everyone asks me if I'm going to shoot in college and I have to disappoint them. I'm going to be a physical therapist and because of the amount of extra time it will take, I won't have the time to shoot competitively," she said.

CMP Board Vice Chair Judy Legerski congratulates Kirsten Moyer for her second place finish in the precision air rifle championship. Moyer tied the Navy JROTC record for 20 shots standing with a 196-14.

In addition to her gold medal and first place trophy, Atchley was awarded a Model 887 sporter air rifle from Daisy Outdoor Products.

Though he didn't place among the leaders, Zachary Frohn, 17, of Charlotte High School Navy JROTC, fired an outstanding 198-13 in the prone position on the second day of competition, tying the Navy JROTC national record. He was recognized for his accomplishment at the awards ceremony Saturday evening.

The third place finisher in the precision air rifle class was Del Valle High School Army JROTC, Texas, with a total team score of 4613-267. Also winners of a $500 cash award from CMP, Del Valle team members are Kevin Cruz, Jasmine Juarez, Leslie Gallo and Jose Arras. The team is coached by LTC Gary Crafton.

In sporter team competition, Ozark High School Army JROTC, Missouri, took top honors with a total score of 4357-130. Team members are Tessa Howald, Makennon Doran, Shelby Brummett and Logan Hunt. The team is mentored by 1Sgt Terry Thompson. Ozark was awarded a Challenger air rifle donated by Crosman, two $1000 cash awards from CMP and a $200 merchandise certificate from Daisy Outdoor Products.

Daleville High School Army JROTC, Alabama, won second place with an overall score of 4343-130. Mikaelah Atchley anchored the team, followed by Joshua Ranes, Joshua Nabinger and Grady Wilkes. Daleville is coached by LTC Ralph Aaron. The team took home a $150 merchandise certificate from Daisy Outdoor Products and a $500 cash award from the CMP. Each top service team received a $1000 cash award from the CMP. Overall top teams also received a $1000 cash award from the CMP and overall second and third place teams received a $500 cash award from the CMP.

Rayville High School Army JROTC, Louisiana, placed third with an aggregate score of 4311-127. Team members are Gary Johnson, Charles Hollis, Jack Lockeby and Cody Bernal. The team is coached by LTC Sladen Mohl. As a third place sporter finisher, Rayville was awarded a $100 merchandise certificate from Daisy Outdoor Products.

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

ANNISTON, ALABAMA – Three JROTC competitors received their Junior Distinguished badges on behalf of the National Three-Position Air Rifle Council and another six shooters earned badges during competition at the 2011 National Junior ROTC Air Rifle Championship on 25-26 March.

Tyler Dayton, 18, of East Coweta High School, Georgia, received badge number 393; Charles Leonard, 18, of Marmion Academy, Illinois, badge number 394 and Sara Crampton, 15, of Des Moines North High School, Iowa, badge number 395. Badges were presented by CMP's James Hall, who earned badge number 2 in 2002.

The six new badge winners were also announced during the awards ceremony. They were Gary Johnson, 17, of Rayville High School, Louisiana; Martina Carson, 18, of R-S Central High School, North Carolina; Charles Hollis, 17, also of Rayville High School; Stephen Nicholas, 17, of Calvert High School, Maryland; Heather Kirby, 15, of Shelby County High School, Kentucky; and Kelsey Moral, 16, of East Coweta High School, Georgia. The Distinguished Badge award presentation opened the ninth annual JROTC Championship banquet and awards ceremony at the CMP Marksmanship Center. The evening's guest speaker was Col. Barrye L. Price, commanding officer of the U.S. Army Cadet Command – a geographically dispersed command comprised of junior and senior ROTC detachments throughout the U.S. and its territories.

Col. Price is a 1985 distinguished military graduate of the University of Houston. He earned his Master's degree in history in 1994 from Texas A&M University. He also earned a Master's degree in national security strategy from the National Defense University in 2004.

In addition to winning individual and team awards, several air rifle teams were recognized for their performances by service branch in both precision and sporter classifications.

In precision air rifle overall, the Marine Corps took the top two places in team competition (Shelby Co., Kentucky – 4662-277, and East Coweta, Georgia – 4620-256), followed by Army (Del Valle, Texas – 4613-267 and Patch HS, Stuttgart, Germany – 4582-228), with the Navy in fifth (Union Grove, Georgia – 4579-214).

In sporter, Army took the top four positions (Ozark, Missouri – 4357-130, Daleville, Alabama – 4343-130, Rayville, Louisiana – 4311-127, and Flowing Wells, Arizona – 4292-119). The Marine Corps placed fifth in sporter team competition (R-S Central, North Carolina – 4283-119).

Battle Ground High School Air Force JROTC, Washington, was the first Air Force junior cadet team to participate in precision air rifle in the national championship and as a result, established all new individual and team records for Air Force cadet competition. Air Force is a relative newcomer to JROTC air rifle competition and has been making continuous improvement in the sporter class and has now established a benchmark in precision air rifle. Their team aggregate score was 4358-129.

Battle Ground's precision team was comprised of Cordelia Schadler, Cody Johnson, Christian Harris and Sarah Barnes. They were coached by Col. Brian Brown, USAF (Ret.) and Gregory Johnson.

Compared to last year's championship where three Air Force sporter teams competed, this year's contingent included five squads. Volcano Vista High School AFJROTC, New Mexico, was the top Air Force team with an aggregate score of 4185-87, followed by The Woodlands AFJROTC, Texas (4148-116) and Northgate AFJROTC, Georgia (4109-99). Each team's aggregate score was higher than last year's top Air Force team by nearly 100 points. The two other Air Force entrants were Western Hills High School, Texas and McMichael High School, North Carolina.

The evening's guest speaker was Col. Barrye L. Price, commanding officer of the U.S. Army Cadet Command. Col. Price is a 1985 distinguished military graduate of the University of Houston. He earned his Master's degree in history in 1994 from Texas A&M University and in 1997 became the first African-American to obtain a doctorate from the Department of History at Texas A&M.

The CMP and service cadet commands honored the 131 participants in the 2011 National JROTC Air Rifle Championships at the CMP Marksmanship Center in Anniston. Following the Day II final, half of the firing range was converted to a banquet facility.
