Under Secretary of the U.S. Army Westphal Rekindles President Roosevelt's

Marksmanship Mandate as National Matches Open

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

CAMP PERRY, OHIO – Featured speaker Dr. Joseph W. Westphal, Under Secretary of the U.S. Army, echoed many of the sentiments of former president Theodore Roosevelt as he officially opened the 2011 National Matches during the First Shot Ceremony here on Rodriguez Range, Monday evening 11 July.

"Though the world has changed considerably in the last century, it is just as unsettled as it was when President Roosevelt established this competition in 1903," Dr. Westphal said as it relates to defense preparedness, marksmanship training and competition.

"If he (Roosevelt) could see what all of you have accomplished here through the National Matches, I know he would take pride in having contributed to what you have sustained so well and for so long," he said.

Dr. Westphal's comments came during the annual celebration of the opening the National Matches which began in 1903 as a mandate from U.S. Congress to establish an annual event which features marksmanship training and recognition of national excellence in competitive target shooting, regarded by many as the 'World Series of the Shooting Sports.' The Matches, which are open to the public, feature pistol and rifle competition by the nation's finest shooters, civilian and military alike in addition to clinics, workshops and games events.

The National Matches are the result of a successful partnership between the Civilian Marksmanship Program, the National Rifle Association and the Ohio National Guard (ONG), with the assistance of virtually all U.S. military service branches, active and reserve.

The Under Secretary's address followed a tactical maneuver demonstrated by ONG's Company B, 2nd Battalion, 19th Special Forces Group (Airborne). The assault maneuver, narrated by MSG Kevin Colwell and executed by a mock combat foot patrol of Special Forces (Green Berets) led by CPT Ryan Edwards, ONG which delivered the American Flag to master of ceremonies Gary Anderson, Director of Civilian Marksmanship, Emeritus. The flag was presented to Lorain High School Junior ROTC cadets from Lorain High School (Ohio) for raising on the Memorial Plaza flagstaff. The colors will fly over Camp Perry's ranges throughout the five-week National Matches.

Originally planned as an air assault maneuver via Blackhawk helicopter, the Green Berets entered the parade grounds on foot from adjoining Petrarca Range. Violent weather in the afternoon precluded the aircraft from flying from Rickenbacker Air National Guard Base near Columbus, Ohio.

During his remarks, Dr. Westphal related to the crowd of several hundred civilian and military shooters, members of the public and dignitaries the wishes of President Roosevelt who spearheaded the still-current legislation that mandated regular marksmanship training and competition. Roosevelt, who served as an Army colonel during the Spanish-American War, witnessed firsthand how unprepared U.S. soldiers were victimized in battle. Despite winning the conflict, the U.S. suffered disproportionate casualties due to the lack of firearms training.

"So I bring these old historic notes of long-forgotten battles, not because they are curiosities, but because they remind us of why Americans began gathering here over a century ago," Dr. Westphal said.

"It was because they knew the terrible consequences of not being ready for war. In establishing the National Matches at Camp Perry, they promoted the importance of marksmanship in the nation's defense. Today the Civilian Marksmanship Program trains some 400 marksmanship instructors a year. In addition, 200,000 to 300,000 young people and adults receive training in marksmanship and firearms safety through clubs and junior ROTC," he said.

"In a troubled world, Army readiness remains essential to the national defense. The War Department struggled mightily in 1898 to man, train, equip and sustain an army for war. Today our ability to defend the homeland could not be stronger and more capable. You have the best Army, the best Marine Corps, the best Navy and the best Air Force in the world - an all-volunteer force that is experienced, dedicated and well-trained.

"I want to congratulate you on all your accomplishments to get these events off the ground today. Through community efforts, through extensive volunteerism and hard competition, you have all contributed to our national defense. I greatly appreciate the hundreds of volunteers who have worked so hard to prepare the ranges and run the competition. They are carrying on a vital tradition of defense preparation.

"The thousands of competitors who will take part in these matches follow on the heels of millions who have benefitted directly over the decades from the marksmanship training and safety programs promoted here.

"Reflecting with regret on the casualties the U.S. took in the Spanish-American War, President Roosevelt said 'The great body of our citizens shoot less as time goes on. We should encourage rifle practice among schoolboys and indeed among all classes as well as in the military services, by every means of our power. Thus and not otherwise may we be able to assist in preserving peace in the world. The first step in the direction of preparation to avert war, if possible, and to be fit for war, if it should come, is to teach men to shoot,'" Dr. Westphal added.

Upon the conclusion of his remarks, Dr. Westphal and a special guest, Army SFC Sene Polu, fired the official first and second ceremonial opening shots of the Matches. Dr. Westphal took aim and fired a CMP-reconditioned World War II M1 Garand rifle at a remotely-detonated explosive target 600 yards downrange. SFC Polu followed, using the same rifle with the second shot, also fired at an explosive target two firing points away.

SFC Polu suffered substantial wounds all over his body from the detonation of an improvised explosive device (IED) during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Dr. Westphal said he invited SFC Polu to assist in opening the Matches in honor of his service and that of thousands of American servicemen and women who have put themselves in harm's way for the preservation of the nation's defense.

Army SFC Sene Polu, left, joins Dr. Joseph W. Westphal after firing the first and second ceremonial first shots of the 2011 National Matches. Dr. Westphal fired the first shot with a CMP-reconditioned M1 Garand rifle and for the first time ever, SFC Polu fired a second official opening shot on a second target on Rodriguez Range at Camp Perry.

National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches

The National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are the annual U. S. national championship in service pistol and service rifle shooting. The National Trophy Matches were established by federal law in 1903, are still conducted under the statutory authority of the U. S. Code (Title 36 USC § 40725-40727) and are now governed by the Civilian Marksmanship Program. Shooters from all over the U. S., civilian and military, test their skills and compete to determine the nation's best service pistol and rifle shooters. To fulfill the CMP's statutory responsibility to "instruct citizens in marksmanship," the National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are open to all shooters regardless of skill level. Beginners compete and learn while shooting side by side with champions. The tradition of the matches and their competitions for prestigious national trophies celebrate marksmanship excellence and provide incentives to develop individual marksmanship skills, equipment and a national competition infrastructure. The CMP National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are held in conjunction with the NRA National Rifle and Pistol Championships through a partnership between the two organizations. The Ohio National Guard and U. S. Army Reserves also provide vital support for the matches. The CMP National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches and the NRA National Rifle and Pistol Championships are collectively known as the NATIONAL MATCHES.

Stormy Weather Drives SAFS Shooters from Camp Perry Range, CMP to Refund Majority of Fees to Participants

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

CAMP PERRY, OHIO – More than 380 Pistol Small Arms Firing School attendees fell victim to the unpredictable skies of Camp Perry on Monday, 11 July when not one, but two thunderstorms rolled through the area. The first storm delayed the shooting portion of the class for about 90 minutes and the second storm provided the knockout punch and ended firing for the day.

Given the tight National Matches schedule and the impossible task of finding a suitable make-up date for shooters and coaches coming from all over the U.S., cancellation was the only viable option.

“When you conduct an outdoor event of this scale, the risk of yielding to the elements is always a possibility, and the safety of our participants, coaches and staff is paramount,” said Christie Sewell, CMP North General Manager. “The Camp Perry range control officers do an excellent job of providing a safe environment for us and they deemed the situation too dangerous to continue,” she added.

SAFS Basic course attendees received expert classroom instruction from Army Marksmanship Unit pistol team member SFC Greg Wilson at the Hough Auditorium in the morning and afterward shooters assembled at Rodriguez Range for practice and match firing. After the first two stages of practice for Relay 1, however; lighting strikes in the area forced evacuation of the range and a downpour ensued.

As shooters returned to the range to resume firing, a second wave of thunderstorms rolled in from the west and put an end to firing for the day. The Basic class was to have fired an M9 pistol Excellence In Competition match at the conclusion their practice session.

Lightning strikes are a part of life at Camp Perry in the summertime. Unfortunately, inclement weather forced the cancellation of most shooting at the 2011 Small Arms Firing School for Pistol.

The CMP is refunding two-thirds of participation fees ($30 of the original $45 fee) to all SAFS Basic Pistol attendees regardless of whether they received range time or not. All Basic participants will separately receive a certificate of attendance by mail in addition to the t-shirt, National Matches lapel pin and instruction booklet they received at registration.

The SAFS Advanced pistol school was conducted as scheduled from 1 to 5:30 p.m. at the auditorium and was completed as planned with firing in the CMP Pistol Warm-Up Match Tuesday morning.

Edward Harrison, 60, and his wife Diane, 61, of Newton Falls, Ohio were assigned to the second relay and were waiting their turn to fire when the storms arrived. It was the Harrison’s first visit to the SAFS Pistol school, having participated in the SAFS Rifle school eight years earlier.

“Our schedules finally worked because Diane wasn’t scheduled to work on Monday, so we are happy to be here,” Edward said. “Now we’re just hoping that we get an opportunity to shoot,” he said as the skies darkened.

In addition, Edward said he plans to fire his 1903 Springfield in the CMP Games matches during the rifle phase of the National Matches.

Henry Beiro, 53, of Huron, Ohio was also waiting for his turn on the SAFS firing line for the first time.

“I enjoy shooting and on a lark one day when I was driving by I decided to pull in and check it out,” Beiro said.

When visiting the CMP store he struck up a conversation with a customer service staff member who informed him about the SAFS schools and he decided to participate.

Larry Bignall, 68, from Brook Park, Ohio was also attending the SAFS Pistol school for the first time. A veteran NRA instructor, Bignall said he is a proponent of 2nd Amendment rights and is on “a continual quest” to find better ways to instruct and improve his shooting game.

Henry Beiro, of Huron, Ohio learned about the SAFS Pistol school when he stopped at the CMP store at Camp Perry and decided to give it a try.

Larry Bignall, of Brook Park, Ohio attended his first SAFS class this year. An experienced shooter and instructor, Bignall came to SAFS to continue his quest for improvement in shooting.

Ray La Chance, of Greenwich, Connecticut, brought his friend and New York City police officer Willie Chu, of Great Neck, New York to his first SAFS Pistol class in 2011. It was La Chance’s trip to SAFS Pistol.

Ed Harrison and his wife Diane, of Newton Falls, Ohio didn’t get an opportunity to fire the M9 pistol at the 2011 SAFS due to inclement weather, but Ed plans to return to shoot his Springfield rifle during the CMP Games in August.

Members of every major military service pistol team assist with high-quality instruction at the SAFS Pistol school.

Zurek Wins President's Pistol Trophy and Hullings Captures Junior Title at 2011 National Pistol Trophy Matches

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

CAMP PERRY, OHIO – John Zurek, a 25-year veteran pistol competitor and invitee to the 2011 USA Shooting national development team in May, won the prestigious President's Pistol Trophy Match on Sunday, 17 July with an aggregate score of 390-12X, which included a 100-0X in the timed-fire stage.

Zurek, 47, of Tucson, Arizona, is also the coach and shooting member of the winning Arizona Rifle and Pistol Association team that captured the civilian team championship (Oglethorpe Trophy). He is also the high-ranking service pistol shooter in combined scoring in the President's, National Trophy Individual and National Trophy Team matches.

Afterward Zurek commented on his success in the matches. "It was great; it was easy – shooting good is easy," he explained. He said when shots fall according to plan, it feels easy.

"You know, I was just coaching myself, that's all it was, through every shot, just kept coaching myself. It's not that I don't know how to shoot a shot – I do, I was walking myself through every shot," he added.

Zurek commented that his clean timed-fire stage was unusual because none of his shots were center shots.

"Surprisingly I had a timed-fire match that was 100 with no X's. None. All the way around it. It looked like a donut. I wanted to save it - it was such a cool target, because the "X" was unscathed.

"It was exciting, but it means I wasn't watching my sights. If you're watching your sights, they go in the middle. I had a phenomenal X-count on the long line with nine X's out of 20, which means almost every other shot was an X.

"So that was reinforced when I got into rapid so I wasn't thinking about how good I was shooting. I was thinking that I wanted to watch the sights, so if there was any pressure, and there really wasn't, because all I was doing was watching the sights. And then they all went right in the middle, so it was really cool," he said.

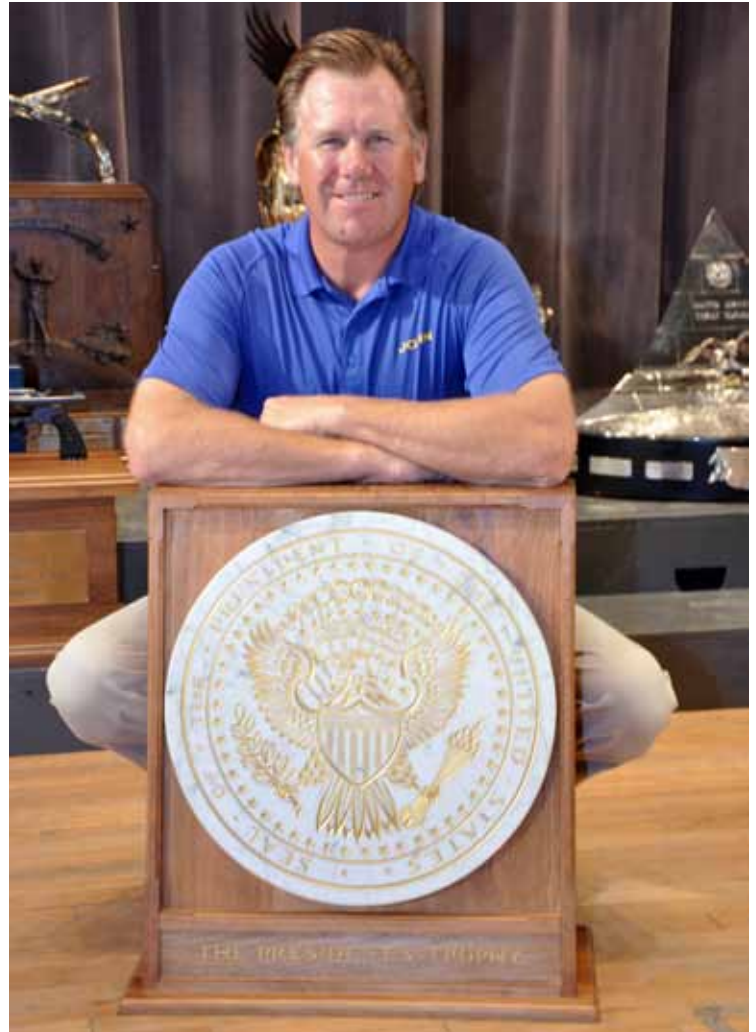

U.S. Marine SSG Jason Hedrick placed second in the President's Match, firing a 385-15X. Hedrick fired a pair of 99's in the timed and rapid-fire portions of the match, giving up five points to Zurek in the slow-fire stage. SFC Keith Sanderson, U.S. Army Reserve, was a point behind at 384-9X, good for third place.

Kimberly Hullings, 19, of Matawan, New Jersey, was the overall high aggregate junior shooter in the pistol matches, winning the Junior President's Pistol Match with an aggregate score of 359-5X. Hullings' 905-12X aggregate was comprised of Junior President's, NTI and NTT matches.

Hullings also contributed to her New Jersey Awesome Jr. team, which finished second with an aggregate team score of 513-4X.

Joseph Totts, 19, of Mogadore, Ohio, won the Junior Individual Pistol Match (.22 caliber), with an aggregate score of 276-5X. Totts was awarded the G.P. Perry DeFino Trophy. Hullings placed second with a 274-4X and Walker Buckman, 15, of Lovettsville, Virginia, placed third with an aggregate score of 269-1X.

SFC Sanderson was the high shooter using the M1911 pistol in the President's Match. Kathy Chatterton, 60, of Glen Rock, New Jersey, was the high woman shooter, topping Judy Tant, 61, of East Lansing, Michigan by six points with a 359-5X. Robert McIlhaney, 62, of Allentown, Pennsylvania, was the high senior in the match with an aggregate of 375-13X.

SFC Thomas Rose, U.S. Army, was the high shooter in the National Trophy Individual Match, winning the General Custer Trophy, scoring an aggregate of 292-11X. Rose's AMU teammates, SSG Lyman Grover and SSG Adam Sokolowski tied for second with Grover defeating Sokolowski on X-count 288-12X to 288-11X, respectively.

The Glock Pistol Award was presented to Kevin Kelly, 48, of Charodon, Ohio for being the highest overall scoring law enforcement officer with combined scores from the President's, NTI and NTT matches. Kelly fired an 883-18 aggregate. Susan Fries, 48, of Laingsburg, Michigan and Charles Byrd, 68, of Haymarket, Virginia placed second and third with scores of 881-11X and 871-12X, respectively. Kelly received a Glock pistol donated by Glock GmbH.

In team competition, the Gold Cup Trophy, which signifies the top overall team ranking, U.S. Army Blue placed first with an aggregate score of 1126-33X. U.S. Army Blue is composed to SFC James Henderson, SSG Lyman Grover, SSG Patrick Franks, Jr. and SFC Greg Wilson. Team captain is SPC Matthew Sawallis and the team is coached by SSG Jean-Noel Howell. USMC Scarlet placed second with a score of 1115-25X and Arizona State Rifle & Pistol Assn. took third with a 1066-17X.

graced the ranges and awards podium, leaving with hard-earned medals, plaques, badges and trophies.

For many others it's a place where family and friends come together to enjoy their summer vacations, combining shooting with family reunions and reacquainting with old friends and taking in the aura and atmosphere of the grand-daddy of all shooting events.

When Bill Bumpus and his son, LTC Michael W. Bumpus, arrived to participate in the President's Pistol Trophy and National Individual Trophy matches, they had no intention of winning championships, and neither did. Bill didn't score particularly well and Mike finished somewhere in the middle of the pack.

But it didn't matter, because when the shooting was done, they had gotten what they came for – a taste of the Camp Perry experience – one that Bill had thick memories of from years past.

They climbed into their motor home and headed back to South Carolina with less ammunition, too much sun and more father and son memories to add to their rich and still-growing scrapbook.

Bill said his shooting hand quivers a bit and he'll tell you the reason is the heart medication he's on.

"When we get back I'm going to ask my doctor to prescribe something that takes away some of this shakiness," he said. "There's not much web left in this hand," he added, pointing to the "V" between thumb and forefinger. After all, it's been taking a pounding since he first started shooting a .45 competitively in 1958.

Of course at age 83, just standing at a shooting bench for two pistol matches under the unyielding Camp Perry sun, pointing a Model 1911 in the general direction of the target is still a pretty demanding task.

Two of Bill's most memorable shooting achievements over the years were his first Air Force team match at Camp Perry in 1960 and seven years later firing a 240-8X, just missing the President's Hundred cut as an individual shooter.

As he recounted his many memories as a pistol shooter, competing at many ranges across the country and here at Camp Perry, Bill explained how the field of aviation and the military opened many doors from childhood until now.

work in the coal mines dwindled and the family moved to Toledo, Ohio to find work and to be near family. He grew up in the Toledo area and started flying at 13 when he worked as a line boy performing maintenance at a local aeronautical school.

“My fingers were too short to play the piano or to type, so I had to find something else to do,” he said jokingly.

His flying school boss took a liking to him and asked him if he'd like to learn to fly. Bill took him up on the offer and it all seemed logical – he could learn a lot more about aircraft maintenance if he actually knew how airplanes functioned. He had a pilot's license long before a driver's license, he said.

Back in those days a lot of planes didn't have automatic starters, so we had to prop 'em" from behind," (manually turn the propeller) he said.

That very basic, humble beginning as a young teen led to a 55-year career as a pilot, logging more than 20,000 flight hours in Air Force and commercial aircraft. He enlisted in the Air Force in 1948 and was assigned to Randolph Field (now Randolph AF Base) near San Antonio, Texas, the home of Air Force instruction and forerunner of the U.S. Air Force Academy (now in Colorado Springs).

Bumpus flew P-51 Mustangs, first as an American fighter pilot in the Korean War and later as an advisor to the Korean Air Force in the early 1950s. While in the Air Force he also flew bombers and transports including the B-25, B-26, B-17, B-29, C-97, B-50 and more.

He began competitive shooting in the Air Force in 1958 and did some shotgun shooting as part of his aircraft shooting instruction, he said. “We used to get to shoot skeet and stuff to get the lead-pursuit concept.” He said all pilots had to stay qualified with the .45 pistol which was their survival weapon in the event of trouble so he remained proficient in its use.

“It was at Eglin Air Force Base when this old guy saw me knocking a hole in the middle of a target. He said ‘You're going to be on the pistol team.’”

Bill obliged. Throughout the 1960s he fired in as many matches as he could, making occasional trips to Camp Perry. By 1970 he had logged 10,000 hours of flying time, including 3,000 hours in a Lockheed C141 Starlifter four-engine heavy-lift transport jet. Commercially he flew Boeing 707s and eventually 747s.

His flight experience combined with his innate mechanical sense then led him into a world of aviation very few experience. He became a check pilot, testing systems and flight simulators. Bill's career in aviation culminated as aviation crash site investigator. Originally assigned to work with TWA, Pan AM and Atlas Airlines, he put all of his aviation and mechanical aptitude to work assisting with the physical examination of several major airline crash sites helping law enforcement and government agencies explain the nature of plane crashes.

It's common for investigators to be assigned to specific airlines so they can immerse themselves in that company's specific policies and procedures. When crashes occur it makes it easier for investigators to understand why pilots and crew respond the way they do during unexpected events, he said.

His assignments included some of the notable events in aviation history including the 1977 collision between a Pan Am jet and a KLM airliner that took 583 lives on Tenerife, the largest of the Canary Islands. It was the deadliest aviation accident in history.

Bumpus was assigned to the terrorist downing of Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland in December 1988 - a Boeing 747 named Clipper Maid of the Seas that was destroyed by a bomb, killing all 243 passengers and 16 crew members plus 11 on the ground as large sections of the plane fell in the town and destroyed several houses, bringing total fatalities to 270.

Bumpus said he was deputized by both the FBI and Scottish police to gain access to the crash site.

“I was tracking through the Scottish fields picking up pieces of wreckage,” he said. It was Bumpus' job to help find clues that would one day prove the crash was a criminal act.

“It wasn't easy, but it's a part of the job,” Bill said as he described combing through pieces of aircraft, luggage and human remains in search of evidence. When the investigation was complete, authorities found traces of explosives, a detonating device and other articles that were traced to Libyan terrorists. Years later the Libyan government admitted complicity in the bombing.

Bumpus served on the crash investigation team of TWA Flight 800 off New York City's Long Island in 1996. The Boeing 747 was flying to Paris from New York's JFK International Airport and plunged into the ocean after a catastrophic break-up shortly after take-off. None of the 230 people aboard survived. A spark or unusual heat source in the plane's near-empty center fuel tank was ruled the cause of the accident.

Bill's son Mike, also a pilot and full-time member of the Louisiana Air National Guard, is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy, having received his commission in 1986. He is one of seven children, four of which have attended the Academy.

Mike began shooting competitively in rifle and pistol with his high school shooting club. He and his dad have shot pistol together at Fort Benning and this year at Camp Perry. He served as an Air Force pilot seeing action over Bosnia; returned to civilian life as a first officer for United Airlines and when the company cut back he returned to the military and flew A-10 Warthogs over Afghanistan.

The elder Bumpus, now residing in Charleston, South Carolina, retired in April 2003, having served the last 34 years of his career as investigator. He was an active pilot until turning in his wings at age 75. At least now he has more time to dedicate to family and one of his favorite passions – just being dad.

Bumpus flew P-51 Mustangs in the early 1950s and served as an advisor with the Korean Air Force with a Korean P-51 squadron.

“Tough Ol’ Bird” Zalewski Battles Back from Gall Bladder Treatment Two Years in a Row to Shoot Pistol Matches

By Steve Cooper, CMP Writer

CAMP PERRY, OHIO – His son describes him as a ‘tough ol’ bird,’ but whatever you call Ron J. Zalewski, he’s bound and determined to get on the pistol range at Camp Perry, even if it means hanging an IV bag from his pistol box.

Zalewski, 71, of Clinton Township, Michigan, a High Master and Distinguished pistol shooter, is the winner of multiple pistol awards over the last several years including the Custer Trophy (’91), President’s Pistol Trophy (’95) and Elihu Root Gold Medal and Oglethorpe team trophy (’99) to name a few. But it seems only appropriate that someone create an award called the “Gold Gall Bladder Trophy” because for the second straight year Zalewski’s competitive spirit has willed him to walk out of the operating room following gall bladder procedures and onto the firing line.

His son, Ron S. Zalewski, (not Ron Jr.), joined his father on the line, not only to add to their Camp Perry memories but to keep his dad from keeling over from medical fatigue. Ron S., 43, of Taylor, Michigan, said he’s really proud of his dad – proud of his shooting abilities and determination.

Ron S. is also a Distinguished pistol shot and both men have achieved President’s Hundred status in past matches. “I think I’ve won every trophy available in hard ball,” the elder Zalewski said.

“I’m here to ride health herd on him today,” Ron S. said. “My wife said if he wasn’t watching me, I couldn’t come,” his dad followed.

Last year Zalewski arrived at Camp Perry 10 days after a nine-day stint in the hospital with ascending colangitis, a potentially life-threatening infection of the gall bladder bile duct which required bed rest and intravenous antibiotic treatment.

“They said I went septic and four days before last year’s matches I was still on an IV. I felt well enough to come to Camp Perry though, so I did.

This year Zalewski’s gall bladder acted up again and his condition required surgery to remove the organ and cut away adhesions with a scalpel and not by more contemporary means with a scoped instrument.

“Hey pop, last year they just stuck a scope down your throat - this year they filleted you like a fish,” Zalewski’s son chimed in.

“One of the primary reasons I come down here is I take care of housing for our state association shooters,” Zalewski said. “I have about 18 guys here that depend on me to make sure that all gets straightened out.” He and his son have been officers in the Michigan Rifle & Pistol Association for several years.

“My doctor said physically I’m able to shoot,

Father and son, Ron L. and Ron S. Zalewski prepare to fire as teammates in the National Trophy Team match for Michigan Rifle & Pistol Gold. Judy Tant and Mark Compton rounded out the Michigan R&P Gold squad.

but if I don’t feel good, he said not to shoot. I was sitting back here after the President’s match and I was whipped after that,” he said. “I said to myself it’s only 30 rounds, but I’ll tell you, it was a tough 30 rounds.

“My strength is way down and I’ve been laid up for the best part of nine weeks and I haven’t handled a pistol in nine weeks either,” he added. “I was in intensive care for a couple days, but I’m doing okay.”

With full sun, high humidity and temperatures soaring into the upper 80s, even the healthiest of shooters were feeling the effects of Camp Perry summer.

“This time next year, God willing and if the tides don’t rise, I’m going to shoot everything,” Zalewski said. “I’m really thankful to my shooting friends from all over the country who have sought me out and wished me well,” he said.

Ron L. and his son strike familiar poses on the pistol firing line during the NTT pistol match. Their Michigan R&P Gold team placed fifth in the competition.

Ron S. Zalewski calls his dad a “tough ol’ bird” for battling his way back to Camp Perry after hospital stays in each of the last two years leading up to the matches.
